What we want as White patriots

Where the System wants White patriots!

Editorial

Editor:
James Turner

Our front cover says it all! Jail for any White Nationalists who tries to exercise their right of freedom of speech, thought and action! The Home Secretary's response the welcome result of Messrs Collett and Griffin walking free from Leeds Crown court after a media circus race case trial? New Marxist labour will tighten Britain's Race Laws (could they be any tighter?) and also having a THIRD go at bringing about a truly not wanted Religious Hatred Law which will put Muslims above the law as far as any criticism of their religion is concerned.

Make no mistake - the Race and Public Order laws in this country are some of the harshest in the world. Germany, Canada and Australia are perhaps just in the lead when it comes to repressing White Nationalist's freedom of speech.

The British People's Party and Vanguard are COMMITTED to making the repeal of the Race Act a Number One Priority in our propaganda onslaught! How can you help? Well the Bpp has an excellent leaflet on the subject "Freedom - what Freedom?". We need to get as many copies of this leaflet to as many White Britons as possible. You can download it from the BPP official site = www.bpp.uk.org or order it from our HQ address. Get some out now and do YOUR bit for free speech in the United Kingdom.

THE BPP - ONE YEAR ON

The British People's Party has been in existence for just over a year and what a year of turmoil and struggle it has been! We were formed in September 2005 and immediately had a crisis when our Chairman had to be expelled due to severe allegations of misconduct. As things turned out this was for the good for the man in question is a liability to any White Nationalist organisation. The split with the Nationalist Alliance would never have happened yet I still firmly believe we would have had to change our name - the BPP name has a real ring to it and is the next obvious stop for any patriot who doesn't want the BNP's way of doing things. The NA are a great bunch and it is sad that we are not united - but we do not know what the future may hold.

Then on January 22nd 2006 at our first major meeting I was severely attacked - I could call it attempted murder - by members of the 635 Group, a violent offshoot of Antifa. I lost a lot of blood after being struck over the head with a bottle and went into shock. Needless to say this severely affected the meeting.

I have soldiered on despite this only to have the BPP car wrecked by persons unknown. Every window was smashed in and the car body work pounded and smashed. So we are without transport in Leeds and that has affected our ability to travel to other meetings.

I took a break from June through to August due to illness at which time a couple of senior figures went to the BNP - for their own reasons. They are of course free to do this but it put a heavy burden on Kevin who is now Party Leader and he was doing everything for three months.

I returned to the fray in September and we immediately revamped the website, got out a letter to all members. Since then we have got Vanguard back up and running as a monthly mag and Imperium as a quarterly.

Nationalist Week at the time of writing has reached its 105th edition. This is our weekly e-zine which goes out to thousands of Nationalists every week. AOL have blocked Nationalist Week distribution which has caused us some problems - many AOL users have given us alternative e-mail addresses, so the damage has been limited.

Far more seriously, PayPal cut off our account. We were getting a lot of orders for merchandise and members through Paypal as well as some sizeable donations. Now we have to rely on the post so this has been another blocking tactic by ZOG to destroy the BPP.

Recently we have come under attack, quite unfairly from another Nationalist grouplet who exist by poaching other organisations members and we have had to contend with that, as well as all the day to day worries of running a White Nationalist party in the hostile environment the UK has now become.

On the plus side, membership has picked up sharply. We have held a joint ceremony with the England First Party for Remembrance Day and there was an excellent turn out.

Vanguard November issue is out and December well under way - so too is the Winter edition of Imperium.

We see 2007 as the year the BPP will consolidate itself and become a major player in the struggle. I do not want to criticise the BNP too much but the trickle of members coming to us from the BNP is increasing all the time (we are not poaching them - they are approaching us!). I predict that this trickle will eventually become a flood tide and all BNP members are welcome. We do not believe in proscription even though other Nationalists practice this self-defeating tactic.

White Nationalists can be in the BPP and any other patriotic organisation they wish - we only ask that they put loyalty to the BPP first and foremost. At the end of the day we see ourselves as the only viable radical alternative on the White Nationalist scene, together with our EFP comrades.

So it has been a year of set-backs and intense struggle against Red Front and Reaction - but we have survived.

We are still here and we are growing!

The hard core of our members have stayed loyal and we have a firm springboard for a major offensive in the New Year.

All true White Nationalists belong in ONE Movement - and that Movement is the BPP!

Not enough failed asylum removals

The number of failed asylum seekers removed between July and September fell by a quarter compared with the previous three months, figures show.

The drop means ministers have missed a key quarterly immigration enforcement target set by the prime minister.

Ministers announced 800 extra officers to tackle illegal immigration the day before the statistics were published.

Home Office figures show the number applying for asylum rose slightly during the third quarter of 2006.

According to the figures, the number of fresh asylum applications rose to 5,850 over the three months.

Some 3,300 principal asylum applicants found not to have a case to stay in Britain were removed - the lowest quarterly figure for more than a year.

At the same time, officials estimated that 4,500 of the newly arrived applicants ultimately would have their cases turned down. This means the Home Office has missed its "tipping point" target - ensuring that the number of failed applicants removed every quarter exceeds the number of new claimants expected to be turned down.

"This represents a decrease on the performance for previous quarters, reflecting decreased removals and increased unfounded applicants," said a Home Office spokesman. However, he added the tipping point had actually been exceeded over the course of the year to September.

The countries with the highest number of asylum seekers were Eritrea, Afghanistan, Iran, China and Somalia.

Of those who appealed against having their case turned down, a fifth were granted rights to stay in the UK. Latest figures for the government's long-standing amnesty affecting certain families show that 24,340 main applicants have been allowed to settle in the UK.

The figures show that as of 30 September, some 1,455 asylum seekers judged to have no case were awaiting deportation in detention centres. Some 140 had been awaiting removal for between six months and a year while another 50 had been held for more than a year.

The Home Office has been under pressure to speed up removals and ministers said they were seconding 440 police officers to the immigration service and recruiting a further 360 new staff to boost efforts against illegal immigration.

Dutch government backs burka ban

The Dutch cabinet has backed a proposal by the country's immigration minister to ban Muslim women from wearing the burka in public places.

The burka, a full body covering that also obscures the face, would be banned by law in the street, and in trains, schools, buses and the law courts.

The cabinet said burkas disturb public order, citizens and safety.

The decision comes days ahead of elections which the ruling centre-right coalition is expected to win.

Immigration Minister Rita Verdonk, who is known for her tough policies, said it was important that all people in the Netherlands were able to see and identify each other clearly to promote integration and tolerance.

Last year a majority of MPs in the Dutch parliament said they were in favour of a ban. They obviously have far more sense and bottle than our yellow-bellied excuse for a government!

Yorksman reports...

My wife was working as a Teacher at a college in Bradford. The school decided that the Christmas Party was "inappropriately" named. The new name for the Christmas Party was the "Winter Festival". Those members of staff who opposed this change were threatened with disciplinary action if they refused to support the change.

No such thing as a Chinaman!

It was reported that an employee working for Southampton University as a temp a couple of years ago referred to a guy from China as a 'Chinaman' only for the head of department to give him a severe rollicking for being racist! Can someone please tell us what is racist about 'Chinaman' as opposed to 'Englishman', 'Frenchman' or 'Scotsman'?

It's PC nonsense and is utterly PATHETIC! People like this woman and others of her ilk need to wake up and get in the real world.

Immigration sparks mass exodus of Whites from UK

White Britons, alarmed at immigration, are fleeing the capital and even the country in record numbers in a "white flight" that mirrors South Africa's exodus. And this week a controversial new book which seeks to explain their flight, encouraged young British-born families to leave in the face of unchecked immigration .

A report by Britain's chief immigration think-tank, Migrationwatch, said more than 100000 British-born Londoners have left the UK capital this year as immigrants stream into the city.

Meanwhile, another report by private analysts predicts that the white exodus is set to accelerate further, and that London's immigrant population will jump from 40% to 60% i n just 12 years.

Sir Andrew Green, chairman of Migrationwatch, said the departing whites were being replaced by other ethnic minorities in their neighbourhoods, leading to a "very unfortunate" apartheid style segregation of the capital.

The report said it was a potential disaster for integration and race relations in Britain. "The effect is a rapid increase in the ethnic minority composition of some boroughs, resulting from an outflow of the white population and an inflow of African and Asian international migrants."

While White South Africans fled Johannesburg, Cape Town and Durban for either suburban security complexes or foreign shores in the mid-1990s, experts said whites in London and cities like Birmingham and Bradford were fleeing to rural "market towns" — and, increasingly, abroad.

In his seemingly xenophobic book, Time to Emigrate? George Walden, who was education minister under Margaret Thatcher, had no doubt about the cause. I mmigration had created "unacceptable" terrorist and crime risks, and had doomed British culture .

Walden told the Sunday Times: "I'm not saying all our national problems are due to immigration . . . but this is the greatest gamble this country has ever taken and it is totally unplanned.

From a hilltop

Old folk battered, young lives shattered,
We know, we see, your misery and pain,
Our pack, yet small, sends out its call,
Join us! Win back your land again.
The Wolf never sleeps.

Our lair is warm, our cubs are strong,
Ready to meet the fray,
Nor will they rest, till they have seen,
The enemy at bay.
The Wolf never sleeps.

Will you then give your land away,
And obey the whips they crack?
Or come to those who seek no gain,
Save survival of our pack.
The Wolf never sleeps.

As hunters true, we know our foe,
Those whom we need to beat,
And do not recognise two words,
'Surrender' and 'defeat'.
The Wolf never sleeps.

So come with us you British folk,
It's much the same old story,
Take to your hearts the fourteen words,
And the path that leads to glory.
The Wolf never sleeps.

Now, look to the hills. The wolves are coming!

"Do I "deny the Holocaust"? No! No indeed. I hope the holocaust is not denied and never forgotten. I hope the holocaust is remembered as the greatest propaganda effort and hate campaign ever waged against a civilized people. We must never forget. We must look at the despoliation of our people and our culture and ask: Why do the heavens not darken? We have lost the will and courage to defend ourselves. The time has come to commit the new blasphemy. It is time to deny the gods of the New World Order."

Dandy annual sparks 'racism' investigation

References: The Smarty Grandpa strip has numerous mentions of the word n*r

THE publisher of the Dandy comic was accused of racism last night after reprinting a 1939 annual which repeatedly uses the word 'n*r'.

DC Thomson is to be investigated by the Commission for Racial Equality after producing thousands of copies of the annual for the lucrative Christmas market.

It was reported by Jamaican student Winston Walker, who was shocked to find it featured a Smarty Grandpa strip containing numerous mentions of the n-word.

The 42-year-old business studies student from Dundee said: 'It's derogatory to black people. Any decent person would be disgusted by the terms used. I don't know what DC Thomson were thinking.'

The strip starts with Grandpa saying he is going 'to listen to the n*r minstrels'. He later has his face blackened when a bag of soot bursts.

As the character goes to the sea to wash his face, an old woman says: 'Poor old n* minstrel.' Grandpa thinks: 'That lady thinks I'm a n*r. That gives me an idea.' He then dresses in a beach tent, saying 'Hi folks, help the n*r minstrels.' Later, he helps two minstrels whose show has flopped.

A spokesman for DC Thomson said: 'This is a true facsimile of the edition published in the 1930s.

'Sensitivity at the time did not consider this to be inflammatory. I don't think he says anything that can be considered racially prejudiced.'

My enemy's enemy is my friend??

There is an increasing phenomena in the movement of supporting Fundamentalist Muslims because of their fight with the Jews in the Middle East, but why should that mean that we should support the Fundamentalist Muslims simply because we share the same enemy? For the Brit's and the Americans, Fundamentalist Fundamentalist Muslims have also been fighting a war against us in our own lands, to make them Islamic, they're not fighting the Jews but the everyday, hardworking Brit or American. The support is mainly manifesting itself from folk, who at this moment in time, have not got the same problems on the same scale that the Americans and especially the Brit's are currently having .Fundamentalist Muslims in Britain are currently lobbying the British Government to get rid of the historically rich Union Flag (or Union Jack as some know it) to replace it with a green version displaying the Islamic crescent moon and star, green as we are all aware is the colour of war for Fundamentalist Muslims. Fundamentalist Muslims have also committed terrorists attacks by the use of suicide bombers on the London tube and on a bus. They have demanded Brit butchers not to sell pork if any Fundamentalist Muslims live close to them. They have demanded that children should not be allowed to have a Christmas dinner or play at their schools. They have also demanded that Christmas lights and decorations should not be put up in streets, schools or stores incase it offends a Muslim that happens to be passing by. Any schools, hospitals, buildings or street names that have a 'St' in them have been ordered to be removed because it's offensive to Fundamentalist Muslims. Church bells are not allowed to ring their bells anymore, even at weddings. In areas that are densely populated with Fundamentalist Muslims, schools are serving only Halal meat to non Muslim children. Muslim clerics hold protests outside their mosques, shouting into megaphones to kill non Fundamentalist Muslims and the infidels. That is just the tip of a very large iceberg.

Let's not forget, that it was fanatical fundamentalist Fundamentalist Muslims that flew airplanes into the World Trade Centre and killed over three thousand people there, yet quite a few of our 'comrades' are wondering why the Brit's and Americans do not support Fundamentalist Muslims and can't understand why we have a problem with them .It is commonly believed that Fundamentalist Muslims are currently preparing for Jihad (racial holy war) in Britain. They have three stages, stage one being to move to and occupy a non Islamic country, stage two is to gain positions of authority and power and the third being Jihad. American intelligence has admitted to have been watching the Muslim population growing in Britain for quite a few years because they believe that the Fundamentalist Muslims are planning the same for America. Muslim 'defectors' have stated that Fundamentalist Muslims are now coming towards the end of the second stage and are preparing for Jihad on Britain .If the Fundamentalist Muslims conquer Britain the rest of Europe will fall too. This will happen if our non UK & American comrades continue to 'turn the other cheek' simply because both whites and Fundamentalist Muslims share the same enemy. It is exactly that kind of attitude that has not only held the movement back for years but is also weakening it. Those that make friends with a snake can not cry when the snake bites them ...and that snake will bite them all one day.

Vanguard comment:

This is one side of the argument. The BPP is committed to repatriating ALL Asians of whatever religion back to their homelands - however we feel that targeting Fundamentalist Muslims as the number one enemy is a trend that obscures the role of World Zionism in the New World Order conspiracy for a Globalist One World.

FIGHTING FOR A UNITED GREAT BRITAIN

By Eddy Morrison

A recent survey seems to indicate that a majority of Britons would like to see the break up of the United Kingdom into four separate countries. It is said that some 48% of English folk wish England to be independent and Scotland especially to become a separate nation along with Wales and Ulster. Great Britain would be no more, and the devolutionists would have achieved what the Globalists want – the eventual smashing up of the United Kingdom.

Since 1543, Wales as had a union with England and one, which has most certainly, benefited both Welsh and English alike. The same holds true with Scotland where the 1707 Act of Union brought both countries into one nation. With the break up of Ireland into Eire and the Six Counties of Ulster, the UK as we know it today came fully into being.

Racially there is a common bond between all the peoples of our islands. Many Englishmen have Scots, Irish or Welsh blood in them – often all three and the same goes for the other peoples of our once great nation. Whilst the peoples of Europe are our racial cousins, the peoples of Great Britain are our RACIAL BROTHERS AND SISTERS!

In war after war, Englishman, Scotsman, Welsh and Irish have stood side by side against a common foe. Proud Scottish, Welsh and Irish regiments have on their battle honours the battle honours not of England but of Great Britain.

In the last century both Germany and Italy were made up of lots of small states each clinging to a fragile 'independence'. Indeed until the advent of the Third Reich was Germany fully united and such things as Bavarian independence seen as a thing of the past. All Germans belonged to Germany. The same became true of Italy. The same MUST remain true of Great Britain!

One could make out a good case for an independent Yorkshire or Cornwall (and some do!) but we would end up with a hotchpotch of tiny states facing a Globalist onslaught.

The British People's Party is not in principal against some form of limited devolution and indeed should we achieve government then radical reforms will sweep away the monopoly of the corrupt and seedy Westminster politicians and replace it with a Corporate State in which every Briton had a much fairer and better voice.
The BPP applauds the heritage of all four separate regions of our land. They are all rich and valuable but to break up into four separate countries would prove the death knell of Great Britain – exactly what the world enemy wants!

We think it sad that for instance the Cornish language has died out – it was part of our heritage as is Gaelic and the traditions of St.George – but they must be bound firmly together and each region recognise itself as Scots, English, Welsh and Ulster folk but beyond that as Britons!
Firstly the writer of this article is Yorkshire both by birth and inclination and is extremely proud of the County of Yorkshire. Secondly he is an Englishman and is extremely proud of being so. Thirdly he is a Briton and feels solidarity with all the peoples of our islands. However most of all he is a White man and recognises that RACE transcends political boundaries!

We can be English Nationalists; Freedom fighters in Ulster or modern Bravehearts – fine that is our collective heritage but as White Nationalist we have an overriding duty to understand that this war for racial survival is being fought in every land where the Whites are embattled by the rising tide of multi-racialism. When it comes to the crunch John, the White Nationalist in Britain; Pierre, the French White Nationalist; Ivan, the Russian White Nationalist and Greg, the White Nationalist from America are ALL fighting the same battle. If the White race goes down under the combined forces of Globalist Internationalism with its many, many faces then there will in the future be NO John, Pierre, Ivan or Greg. We will be as a race merely a forgotten point on the relentless march of history.

The BPP is the British arm of Aryan Unity – a loose organisation that respects all other nations interests but also furthers the Cause of Pan-Aryanism (the cooperation of White folk all over the world) and fosters and spreads the deep message held in the famous Fourteen Words "We must secure the existence of our people and a future for White children"

Recognition of our different cultural heritages – yes – British Nationalism – yes – but above all:
WHITE PRIDE WORLDWIDE!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:
Quick and to the point. University. Student group email to arrange a gathering. Powers that be (Equality and Diversity people) censored mail and words 'bacon roll' had to be removed. Students are allowed to eat bacon rolls. They had to order a number of rolls from canteen, by email, without using phrase 'bacon roll'! Would this be worth nominating for a prize or am I just too insensitive to the offence the words 'bacon roll' may cause?

J. Peace, Leeds, West Yorkshire

Sir:
The monthly news letter that is circulated at work last month contained the announcement that the "C" word is no longer to be used. The "C" word in question was "Christmas". No staff are allowed to send Christmas cards and the company Christmas party that is held yearly in London has been replaced by a staff awards presentation. During this presentation every office will get an award with nobody excluded.
Directly below this announcement was a page and a half description of Ramadan with a reminder of how important it was to respect the beliefs of all Muslims, especially at this time of year.
Incredible! As they say - you couldn't make it up!

J.Hoole, Edinburgh

Sir:
An email mailshot which was sent to literally hundreds of thousands of customers by the company which I work for was rejected by several County Council email addresses as it contained the name of the (apparently racist) flower "Black Violet".... Quite how anyone could find this offensive is beyond me. People need to take a major reality check in my opinion - How, if a colour is contained within the NAME of something, be it a black flower, a black car, or a black pair of trousers be offensive when it is in no way derogatory? I don't see anyone complaining when something is pre-fixed with the word "White"!

Anon e-mail

Sir:
I worked for Lewisham Business Rates section for 4 years in the early 1990's. I can assure everyone that reads this that the biggest non-payers were either Nigerian, Asian or Turkish. I don't say there weren't any non-paying white people but the majority were the one's previously mentioned.
The council's attitude was to go softly, softly with these people and to do it by the book for the white people. This was never put in writing but we had verbal instructions on every case and this is what happened. Isn't this racist?

Peter Noble, Cardiff

Sir:
On July 8th 2005 I decided to fly a British flag from my car due to my heartache and solidarity with the victims of the London bombings. The police pulled me over and told me that it could be considered racist and that I must take it down . Almost in tears I explained I was doing it for the people who were killed by terrorist scumbags. The policeman just said that I had to take it down or he would arrest me for racial incitement.
Dear Vanguard Letters,
While living in Canada and working for Pottery Barn we were told not to say Merry Christmas but happy holidays. I called a black board a black board and was told that I must never say this again as it is racially offensive. I was also told that I could not wear my cross because it might offend our Muslim workers. Did anyone think that I might be offended? I think not.

J. Merryman, South London

Sir:
I was in a local school lately and noticed three books on display in a cabinet outside the secretary's office.
One was something about the "Cultural Influences of Hinduism", another one was entitled "Black Inventions and Scientists" - I kid you not! It was probably as thin as a Biafran cookbook! The third was called "An Idiots Guide to Islam"! Surely everyone knows that Islam is a peaceful religion and anyone who says otherwise is likely to be threatened with beheading!

D. Summers, Bolton

Sir:
I've just heard on the news that over 100 million pounds of OUR money is spent on translators for foreign speaking immigrants every year!
Experts say it's more likely a lot higher than that!
So the next time you open your wage packet and look at that massive chunk of hard earned cash taken from it via tax and N.I, just remember where it's going and to who!
WHEN AND HOW WILL IT ALL END?

The Way we Live Now

by Junius

Key figures

Our prisons, we are told, are overcrowded and badly run – not enough staff to do the job it is said. And, if a recent report on Pentonville is to be believed, large numbers of innocent mice, rats and cockroaches may also be accidentally and unofficially incarcerated. One statistic, not widely broadcast, is that one in every seven held behind bars in our British gaols is a foreigner. In fact the number of overseas persons residing in our prisons has risen by 50% over the past five years. Mr. Trevor Phillips (please see our third item below) will be interested to know that, with 1,564 inmates, Jamaica heads the list, followed by 890 from Nigeria, leaving Southern Ireland at 649 a poor third. Thanks a lot, New Labour! How the hell do these creatures manage to get into our land in the first place? Unbelievably, £98,000 a year immigration judge (well that is what they are called), Mohammed Ilyas Khan employed as his housekeeper, and occasionally went to bed with, an illegal immigrant from Brazil, who was herself once married to an Albanian serial killer who is serving a life term in Italy. If it's like that at the top, God knows what goes on in the ranks!

Welcome Guidance

Those who said that John Prescott is underworked and overpaid should be ashamed of themselves. Clearly they have not seen the amazing list of free publications available from the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister. This 13 page catalogue, which offers booklets, audio tapes and compact discs, covers 680 items and includes gems such as, "Developing a new development framework for local government", "Assessing the health needs of rough sleepers", "Good practice in managing the evening & late night economy", and "The right hedge for you". All good stuff no doubt, but the clear winner is, "Telephone kiosk glass advertising consultation paper". Got a problem? Maybe something complex, like what time of night you should put the cat out.

Contacting odpm@twoten.press.net could be the answer.

Trevor plays the numbers game

It has been calculated that three quarters of all black men aged between 15 and 34 are on the DNA data base for England and Wales. This, says the genius who heads up the lunatic Commission for Racial Equality, "Is tantamount to criminalising a generation of young black men. Stop and search statistics suggest that black males are more likely to be stopped simply because they are young black males. This database figure is.....provocative, unfair and unjust and will do little to reduce crime." It would, we think, behove Mr. Phillips to avoid silly conjecture such as "..search statistics suggest", coupled with pitiful whining as to what he regards as being unfair and unjust, and to arrive, albeit grudgingly, at the more obvious conclusion already reached by anyone with just half a brain.

Slaving at the desk

Foreign languages no longer compulsory, the numbers opting for courses in science and maths falling every year, and mickey mouse degrees now a favourite option! Surely it is not unreasonable to wonder just where our education system will finally end up. Believe it or not there is worse to come. In a review of 'diversity' within the National Curriculum it has been suggested that Slavery might be made a compulsory subject, an idea which, it is said, is much favoured by Alan Johnson the Education Minister. If it was an optional subject that would be daft, but to insist that every child should sit at his or her desk and listen to nonsense about the alleged 'sins' of their forebears clearly borders on the criminally insane. Regular readers will know that the last thing we would ever encourage is rebelliousness amongst schoolchildren. However, if our kids should just happen to make a roaring bonfire of these particular exam papers.....

An expensive party

With the Mormons on our doorstep as it were, and the Scientologists just up the road, we really believed that East Grinstead stood a chance of becoming European City of Culture in 2008. But, as ever, it is size that counts and we have to congratulate Liverpool on receiving the accolade. Lucky scousers! Already some 70 breathtaking events are being arranged including exhibitions by an Austrian artist and a Swiss architect. Don't miss 'em whatever you do! The chief executive of your Liverpool Culture Company wants "To win a world wide audience with major international events". Mr. Harborrow said he hoped that "....the celebrations would help regeneration, increase tourist numbers and give the city new confidence". The only real snag is that all this is estimated to cost you £58 million and, if you look at the actual figures for similar projects, you ought to treble this at the very least. So, at the beginning of 2009 you are likely to be a couple of hundred millions worse off with nothing to show for it.

The Verdict

Rarely do we see eye to eye with the opinions expressed by the MP for Henley. But who could argue with Boris Johnson when he declared that, "Saddam's trial wouldn't pass for justice in a dictatorship"? He should have left it there but, being Boris, he went on to suggest that the trial of the Iraqi President should have taken place at the Hague. What! Yet another situation comedy! On your behalf, we have already used the internet to express our contempt for this victor's justice show trial and the inevitable result announced a day or so ago.

but also the faithful depository of our national idiom; affording at the same time, to the scientific investigator of the human mind a very interesting and extraordinary example of the changes incident to a language, as well as to a nation, in its progress from rudeness to refinement."

STAND BY LOYAL ULSTER!

Loyal Ulster is under threat! A conspiracy by the 'British' and Irish governments, hand in hand with the Marxist IRA, is endangering the status of Northern Ireland as part of Great Britain!

The aim of the murdering IRA and their fellow Irish Republican travellers is to create a single state of Ireland ruled by Dublin by using any means at their disposal. They are experts at indiscriminately murdering innocent people by the bomb and the bullet. Contrary to the conditions of the so-called 'peace treaty' known as the 'Good Friday Agreement' the IRA are still in existence and their terror programme is still in operation. Their members are once again on our streets continuing their campaign of hate against the British people of Ulster. All these red terrorists should have received the death penalty for their crimes and hung like common criminals. To those who will say that Loyalist prisoners have also been released, we state that those loyal Britons should not have been imprisoned in the first place. Would any other country jail its citizens for fighting to defend it from attack by a foreign power? In Britain though, those standing up for our nation are condemned by both the corrupt politicians in power and by the pro-Republican media, most of whose journalists subscribe to the politics of Karl Marx like their comrades in the IRA.

Ulster is, and must always remain, British. Those people currently resident in Northern Ireland who refuse to renounce allegiance to the Irish Republic and do not consider themselves British should lose their British Citizenship and, as a result, their automatic right to live on British soil. This would enable all IRA activists and their supporters to be removed permanently from the UK.

The White Nationalist Party supports the right of the British people of Ulster to maintain their British heritage within the United Kingdom.

We say to hell with Tony Blair and his IRA supporting string-pullers in the USA.

FREEDOM? WHAT FREEDOM?

For hundreds of years freedom of speech has been the right of every honest British Man and woman. Now that birthright has been taken from you.

Labour and Conservative governments have passed Race Laws and Public Order laws which forbid full and free discussion of the questions of race and immigration in Britain. They know their precious multiracial Britain is a DISASTER - so they are shutting up the voices of dissent by dragging honest White patriots before their law courts and fining or jailing them for the most trivial offences!

Are you ANGRY about the way free speech has been taken away from you? Are you ANGRY that you can no longer speak about the crisis mass immigration and the floods of asylum seekers have brought to this country? Are you ANGRY that race riots are tearing up towns such as Oldham, Burnley and Bradford and you can't say a thing about it?

You should be!

WARNING!

Bogus 'Asylum Seekers' are swamping YOUR area

"We hear reports back home of how good life is in Britain. It will be a better place for my wives. But the most important thing is for my children to get a good education."

Above: All AG began 'asylum seeker' working in France for entry to Britain with his two wives, sister and six children

Every day of every year, thousands of immigrants, a lot of them illegal, swarm into Britain, many of them seeking the easy comforts of freebenefits - All funded by YOU - the British taxpayer! Now a new flood has started. Tens of thousands of 'asylum seekers', supposedly fleeing oppression in their own countries but in many cases just getting a free ride on our economy, are coming into this country from Albania, Kosovo and from dozens of Third World countries. Our economy can not bear the strain of all these new benefit seekers, sorry, 'asylum seekers' - many of them bogus.

The present government, which doesn't give a damn about the real British people, are funneling out these fake refugees into many different areas of Britain and yours will be one of them! These bogus 'refugees' and illegal immigrants are now housed, at YOUR expense, in houses courtesy of your local council. They have been housed ahead of ordinary Britons who been on the waiting lists for years. They are draining Social Security benefits, all paid for by us, whilst our old folk freeze to death because they can't afford to pay their fuel bills and people are turned away from hospitals to die because there isn't enough money for beds. Satellite TV, mobile phones, new furniture - you name it, they've got it - ALL FREE! Even working people find it hard to afford these luxuries yet these people are getting it all on top of the usual child benefit, housing benefit and massive cash payments from the DSS. Soft touch Britain - it's a joke but the White working people, whose ancestors fought and died for this country, aren't laughing as they pay for these 'refugees' to live a life of luxury!

Only a firm policy that will STOP IMMIGRATION and begin a programme of humane, phased REPATRIATION can save Britain from this floodtide. This isn't a policy of 'racial hatred', it is a policy of COMMON SENSE!

The Real Meaning of Yuletide

The modern word Yule descends from the Germanic 'Yula', meaning 'wheel' of the year or sun. Yule occurs in the dead of winter, on the Winter Solstice (generally around December 21) when the world has reached its darkest time. And in the midst of this darkness springs hope, light, and flame. It is said that the darkest hour is just before dawn and the holiday of Yule acknowledges and counts on this as the world awaits the rebirth of the sun. Dates vary Yuletide, but it is generally thought to last about twelve days after the actual solstice.

Yule is the holiday dedicated to the birth of the Sun God, who is the son of the good who died the year before. The Christian holiday of Christmas is not much different. Both holidays celebrate the birth of God's son and both holidays have many of the same customs. Of course, as with anything there are differences. For example, as written by the Anglo-Saxon chronicler Bede, the first night of the fest was entitled "Mothernights" and dedicated to Frigga and the disir (fore-mothers). This implies that the celebration of the goddess was every bit as important as the celebration of the return of the god. However, the similarities are so strong that Martin Luther and John Calvin both hated the celebration and spoke out strongly against it. The Purtians would not even acknowledge that the holiday existed and the celebration of Christmas was actually illegal in Boston at one time.

Amongst the those who follow the old Germanic ways, Yule is the most important holiday of the year. It is believed that this is the time when the deities are closest to Midgard (the middle world where humans live). The Germanic gods are referred to as the "Yule Beings," and Odin himself is titled, "Jolnir," or "Yule-One." To the Germanic people, Yule is similar to the Celtic Samhain in that this was the time when their dead are free to pay visits and when magic beings such as Elves and trolls are thought to run free. These spirits and beings have to either be welcomed into the home or warded against as the householders see fit. If they are welcomed, they will be ritually driven from the house at the end of Yuletide to enforce the return of normalcy in the world. Yule is the time of year when the Wild Hunt of Wodan rides most fiercely and it is the border between years when the fates of men are set.

In Ancient Rome, the holiday of Saturnalia was celebrated in mid-winter. The day was dedicated to the god Saturn and featured street celebrations and feasting. Homes were decorated with greenery and strands of lights abound. Also popular was the exchange of small gifts thought to bring luck on the recipient. The remnants of these customs are still strong in the modern celebration of Christmas despite the lengths that the Church went to in attempting to make Christmas a solemn day.

To the Celtic peoples, Yule was the time when the Oak King defeated the Holly King. In the Celtic custom, the Holly King represents death and darkness while the Oak King stands for rebirth and life. Hence, with the Oak King returned to power light shall become prevalent and life return to the earth. It is a time of joy and hope. Yule is a holiday meant to uplift spirits weary from winter and a time to appreciate the wonders that will come with the spring.

There are many customs of Yuletide practiced by the Germans, the Celts, the Romans, and later much of the world under the guise of a Christian holiday.

One of the oldest customs is that of the Yule Log. A log of wood, usually Ash or Oak, is brought into the house. Carvings are placed on it to bring protection and luck to the house and every family member is allowed to make a wish upon it. The log is then placed on the hearth where it is to burn for no less than twelve hours and preferably until dawn. It's ashes and rekindling pieces are saved to place about the house or to be made into pendants for protection though out the year. This custom seems to date back to through the Roman Saturnalia and possibly even to ancient Egypt. This was well before the spread of Christianity although Christians have claimed that Martin Luther or Saint Benefice started the custom.

The most obvious custom of Yule to remain as a Christmas tradition is the Yule or Christmas tree. It was a Germanic custom that spread into most of Europe well before Christianity. A pine or fir tree would be decorated with candles and tokens. Presents where sometimes left under the trees to be anonymously received buy those indicated. Originally, these trees where left outside, but after the spread of Christianity began many moved their trees indoors to avoid notice. A candle lit and ribboned wreath was sometimes used as a smaller reminder of the season.

Plants of the Yule season are traditionally the evergreen, holy, ivy, and mistletoe. The mistletoe was seen by the Celtic Druids to be magical aphrodisiac (I stress the magic since mistletoe is lethal to ingest) and a symbol of fertility. It should thus be obvious that any maiden standing beneath a sprig of mistletoe would be expecting more than to be kissed.

However, such albeitly pleasant activities as these fertility rituals where not the focus of the ancient Yule celebrations. It was a time of magic and ritual, but also of games and riddles. Divinations were cast for the coming Spring both through ritual means and through good-natured taunting and wagering. Caroling was popular and the carolers expected rewards, usually in the form of alcohol, from the houses they visited. Alcohol was important as there was much drinking at these celebrations the amount of which was rivaled only by how much people tried to eat. The most traditional solid forming was wild boar (the hunting of which was often a ritual in itself) and the most popular of liquids mulled wines and the wassail cup, whose name comes from an Anglo-Saxon term meaning "Be whole or hale."]

Another Germanic tradition was that of the Yule-oath. A hallowed bear, which was considered the emblem of Freya and Frey, was brought forth into the hall and oaths where sworn upon it. This custom is still alive in Sweden although it has begun to loose popularity in this century. The oaths sworn on the bear were considered even stronger in binding than those sworn at other times of the year due to the proximity of the deities. Particularly binding oaths would also be sworn on a horn or cup while drinking at the Yule feast. It is thought that this custom is very likely to be the forefather of the New Year's Resolution practiced in the modern world.

Yule is a time for hope, joy, and celebration. And like Christmas it has become a time of caring and gift. It is a time to forget differences and come together in peace. May the deity/concept of your choice bless you this Yule.

Yuletide Greetings to all our readers from all at Vanguard and the BPP!

Threatened with sack for dressing as a piece of coal!

Recently I attended a private Halloween party. It was organized by a couple of blokes at work and was well attended. I dressed up as a bit of coal wearing a shiny black shirt and trousers and blacked out my face and hair. Of course many photos were taken. A colleague collected photos together and posted them on our work server so we could all see them. The upper administration saw them and I now have to undergo 'cultural sensitivity training' because I offended black people. Apparently dressing up as coal at a fancy dress party is racially hostile. We had no control as to who took our pictures, we were also free to dress up whichever way we chose. I am so angry with this politically correct rubbish that has infiltrated every part of society but if I protest too strongly I will lose my job.

2007: TIME TO SET UP THE RADICAL ALTERNATIVE

The British People's Party has been in existence since September 2005 and its first year has been turbulent. Now things are settling down and the Party is moving forward on ALL fronts. New members are coming in at a bigger rate than ever before and so are enquiries. We are also getting a steady stream of White Nationalists looking for a no-compromise organisation after years of disillusionment.

Now the BPP is on a much securer basis and with BIG changes predicted on the British Nationalist scene in 2007 – we must be ready to unite all radical White Nationalists under our Celtic Cross banner so that we have in place a complete and totally efficient machine to reap in the large number of White patriots and ordinary Britons who are finally reaching breaking point under the Marxist New Labour gang of multi-racialists.

The winds of change are blowing through the National Movement just as they are blowing through Great Britain and the White World.

Play YOUR part now and give your support to the BPP – the REAL alternative radical White Nationalist organisation!

Unlike some British Nationalist parties - the BPP will NEVER recognise Israel as a legitimate state.

Israel as the cartoon on the left shows is carrying out a deliberate policy of genocide against the Arab peoples.

At the same time the Jewish parliament raves on about the supposed Holocaust and demands that ANYONE in the world who dares doubt its authenticity be extradited and tried - guess where? In Israel of course!

DON'T MIX THESE UP! PALESTINIAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTALIST ISLAM – a BPP statement of policy

The BPP and Vanguard have always been opposed to the existence of the Bandit State of Israel and unlike our erstwhile Griffinite colleagues in the once White Nationalist BNP, we do NOT kow-tow to Zionism. Griffin is now purposely mixing up the perfectly legitimate right of the Palestinians to reclaim their own homelands with the lunatic Fundamentalist Islamic terrorists, which the BPP fully opposes. We must make this clear! Support for the Palestinians and opposition to Israel does not mean we also support the world Islamic terrorist network.
Say NO to the Israeli Holocaust and say YES to Palestinian freedom and justice.

A RURAL POLICY FOR THE BPP

We have been asked by a number of members and readers what the BPP policy is for the regeneration of rural Britain. Here are some pointers and basic White Nationalist principles towards a sound rural policy: -

1. We recognise that in general, the great urban sprawls we call cities are the death centres of a healthy Race. Urbanisation and the denuding of the countryside of its population have been going on for centuries as 'Merrie England' turned into the grim slums of Victorian industrialisation.
2. Wherever practical we need to see a rebirth of small town and village life. These are close-knit healthy and harmonious communities.
3. Multi-racialism has turned our Inner Cities into nightmarish places, basically wastelands.
4. Our British farming industry, ravaged by foot and mouth and "Mad Cow Disease" plus decades of Government neglect has become the sick agriculture of Europe and is now heavily reliant on EU diktats. British Farming needs to be BRITISH and not in the hands of what the Dictators of Brussels say!
5. Wherever possible we need a 'Back to the land' policy. As we operate a phased repatriation policy of non-Whites from Britain the population will shrink quite dramatically, at the same time we should encourage both the rebuilding of Britain's Inner Cities and also encourage British youth especially to go out to the countryside for farm and country work as part of a planned scheme to shape Britain's youths future.

6. We should strive to achieve as near total self-sufficiency in agriculture as we can, trading British manufactured goods for any foodstuffs we cannot produce.
7. Our motto should be "Blood and Soil" and a long-term commitment to the creation of a healthy rural society, whilst recognising we still have the worlds cutting edge technology at our disposal.

MORE TORY LIES THEY WON'T KEEP!

Opposition leader vows to break up 'ghettos' in Britain

In his speech as party leader at the final day of Conservative's annual conference, David Cameron controversially vowed to break up what he called "ghettos" in British cities.

Cameron also said that Islamic schools should admit a quarter of their pupils from other faiths without making any direct similar demands on Catholic or Jewish schools, according to extracts of his speech obtained by London's Evening Standard newspaper.

About a third of state schools in the UK are faith-based schools, but only seven of the some 7,000 are Muslim compared with 36 Jewish and the overwhelming majority Christian, including around 2,000 from the Catholic denomination.

Faith schools also have a long history in Britain of being very successful with last year's league tables showing that 132 of the top 178 primaries had a religious affiliation.

But in extracts of his address to the Tory conference in Bournemouth, southern England, Cameron warned that a "new generation of Muslim schools is emerging."
"If these schools are to be British state schools, they must be part of our society, not separate from it. So they must do more than provide a good education. They must turn out young men and women who have experience of life beyond their own community," he said.

The opposition leader also reportedly praised the state Church of England for supporting a recent recommendation from a report into inner cities that all faith schools should take some pupils from other backgrounds.
"I believe the time has come for other faith groups to show similar social responsibility," he said but without making any direct mention about Jewish and Catholic schools.

David Cameron:
"I'm human enough to have done a lot of things I shouldn't have done but I am too much of a politician to tell you what they are."

Elsewhere in his speech, Cameron was said to be voicing "worries" that communities are allowed to grow up in Britain with "parallel lives" with people from different backgrounds never meeting, talking or visiting each others' homes.

Migrants should learn English and children should be taught "the core components of British identity - our history, our language, our institutions," he was due to say.

"We need to have contact. In many of our towns and cities, we have allowed ghettoes to develop. Whole neighbourhoods cut off from the rest of society," the main opposition leader warned.

He said there were immigrant families who only ever meet people with the same country of origin and that "we need to find ways to avoid this."
The Evening Standard suggested that Cameron's remarks were "carefully balanced" and were chosen to present a striking contrast with previous Tory approaches to immigration and community issues, which has often been criticized as being too right-wing.

Putting social responsibility at the heart of his first conference message as leader, he was also expected to declare support for marriage, better child care for single mothers and making the National Health Service his top priority.

Vanguard Comment:

In other words Cameron is just doing a repeat show of Thatcher's May 1979 General Election. He is throwing sops and lies to a gullible electorate in an attempt to put a face on that the Tories actually are 'a bit' concerned at the dreadful mess which multi-racial Britain has become. He dare not go as far as Thatcher and refer to stopping non-White immigration and starting repatriation - promises the lying Tories later reneged on but destroying the National Front vote in the process.

DON'T BE FOOLED AGAIN BY TORY LIES!

If you're one of the 'Bulldog breed'...

DON'T LET EUROPE RULE BRITANNIA!

My son is a music teacher. When he started his first job, he was told he could not teach his pupils "Baa baa black sheep", but had to use Baa baa HAPPY sheep!"

A Politically Incorrect sheep?

WHITE PEOPLE NOT WANTED IN SURREY POLICE?

It is reported that a White Briton recently went to apply to the Surrey Police Force but was met with this - "We have temporarily frozen recruitment until further notice due to the high calibre of applications received. Surrey Police would, however, welcome interest from the following under-represented groups: Ethnic Minorities, Gay, Lesbian and Disabled."

PC Plodd

The BPP do NOT want anti-racist, anti-White, brainwashed cops! Our police force need to understand that RACISM is NOT a crime.
We are racists because we love our own people. Racism doesn't mean hating other races, just putting your own folk first as any healthy family would do....

More than 53 million Muslims in Europe!

Survey shows Islam on the rise across continent

More than 53 million Muslims live in Europe - 14 million of them in the European Union, according to newly released figures. The Central Institute's Islam Archives in Soest, Germany, says the number of Muslims in Europe has increased by 800,000 over the last two years, reports the German evangelical news agency IDEA.

The institute's director, Salim Abdullah, says that among the 25 EU states, France has the highest number of Muslims - 5.5 million - followed by Germany with 3.2 million, the United Kingdom with 1.5 million and Italy with 1 million.

Taking into account the whole continent, Russia has 25 million Muslims and the European part of Turkey 5.9 million. The Muslim population in Germany is mostly made up of Turkish migrants. But the number of Muslims holding a German passport has risen to almost 1 million.

Muslim worship in Germany is on the rise. Approximately 200,000 take part in daily prayers and 493,000 in Friday prayers at mosques and prayer houses - an increase of more than 10 percent over last year's figures.

Islam in Germany is a "young religion," according to the institute, which counts 850,000 Muslims as minors. One in five Muslim adolescents worships regularly.

The number of converts to Islam has reached a new high in Germany. According to the institute, more than 1,100 people changed their religion to Islam between 2004 and 2005. Approximately 60 percent of the converts were women. Most converted because they married a Muslim.

But the reverse also is true: More and more Muslims in Germany are becoming Christians. Most are Iranians in exile, who left their country after the Islamic revolution of 1979. Iranian converts estimate that each year approximately 60 Muslims are baptized in Germany – still a tiny number.

The institute believes that more than 100,000 Iranian Shiites have converted to the Christian faith since the Islamic revolution. Most live in the United States.

Swastika ban boomerangs on anti-Nazis

German Company Fined for Selling Anti-Nazi Symbols

How far can individuals go in using a symbol banned by the German constitution?

It was just this question that the Stuttgart district attorney's office wanted clarified when it brought a case against Nix Gut, a mail-order company that offers left-wing garb adorned with modified Swastikas.

The Swastika is banned as a symbol of an unconstitutional organization, but German law allows its use if it is clearly in a form indicating opposition to National Socialism. A crossed-out Swastika reminiscent of a no-parking sign or a stick person throwing a Swastika into a garbage can are images often used by the left-wing movement in Germany.

But a judge ruled on Friday that the use of the Nazi symbol by the company violated the law and fined the owner, Jürgen Kamm, 3,600 euros ($4,500+). "It is not always so easy to recognize that these symbols are being used against Nazis, especially for foreigners," said Bernhard Häussler, the district attorney said.

Circumventing a ban

Up to now, the justice system in the state of Baden-Württemberg, where the case was tried, handled this problem differently, on a case by case basis. But Stuttgart wanted legal clarity, fearing that if leftists could get away with using the symbol, then so called neo-Nazis might also find a way around the ban. Thus, the district attorney brought the suit against Kamm. "There's a danger that the use of Swastikas, even in a modified manner, will not be removed from our society," said the prosecutor. "So neo-Nazis could use them for their own means and this should under no circumstances be the case. We want to avoid a situation where the use of these symbols once again becomes normal."

Officials fear that "neo-Nazis" could skirt the ban on symbol.

But Kamm has defended the use of the symbol saying that it is clear they are being used in a manner that is opposed to right-wing extremism. He added that he will appeal the case to the Federal Court of Justice. Green party leader Claudia Roth called the case "counterproductive." She had previously reported herself to the police for wearing a button featuring a crossed-out Swastika after the case was initially made against Kamm. It isn't the first time that left-wing supporters have been criminalized for their actions aimed at protesting against neo-Nazis.

A Hitler salute

Last year, a student in Tübingen was fined for wearing an anti-Nazi button on his backpack. The local court had argued that a Japanese tourist would only see the Swastika and wouldn't recognize the crossed-out symbol as an anti-fascist pictogram. The student subsequently won his appeal before a regional court, which ruled that he was clearly expressing his anti-fascist attitude by wearing the button. In another case, Nigerian soccer player Adebowale Ogungbure, who plays for Sachsen Leipzig made a mock Hitler salute to fans in Halle after being subjected to racist taunts. The player was charged for the action, but prosecutors eventually dropped the charges, because he had been provoked and hadn't understood the gesture was illegal.

Earlier this year, however, authorities in Berlin allowed filmmaker Dani Levy to display Swastikas during the filming of a comedy about Hitler.

GERMANY IS IN THE GRIP OF "ANTI-NAZI HYSTERIA" TO SUCH AN EXTENT THAT EVEN ANTI-NAZIS (MARXISTS) ARE NOW GETTING PROSECUTED!

Meanwhile the rise of real German Nationalism continues to thrive and grow daily!

The hidden White victims of racism

Last month's horrifying trial of three Asians is part of a worrying trend.

No one who saw Angela Donald giving her dignified statement that "justice had been done" outside the High Court in Edinburgh as the racist murderers of her 15-year-old son were jailed last week could feel anything but sympathy.

Now a new horrific attack in Dewsbury is revealed. For Margaret Massey there was more, though — a sense of fellow-feeling and anger.

Kriss Donald was snatched off the street by an Asian gang and subjected to a terrible ordeal: beaten, stabbed, doused in petrol and set ablaze. Massey's son Lee, a rugby player, was also the subject of a racially motivated attack when he was set upon by a gang of Iraqi asylum seekers "out looking for someone" to hurt.

He and two friends were stabbed in a car park in Dewsbury, West Yorkshire, in October 2003. Lee was then thrown into the air and suffered devastating brain injuries when one of the gang used a car to run him down. Three years later he has not fully recovered.

Massey still feels aggrieved that — in her view — the police inquiry was hindered by political correctness because officers feared that reporting that a white man had been so brutally attacked by asylum seekers would further fuel racial tensions following several such brawls in the area.

"The police didn't charge 13 members of the gang even though I believe there was some evidence," she says.

"If our Lee had run over one of the Iraqis he would have been arrested right away and sent to prison for the rest of his life. The police are nervous when white people are attacked. In this area this is happening more and more often."

The killing of Stephen Lawrence 13 years ago sparked off an orgy of soul-searching throughout liberal Britain.

But we have never quite acknowledged that violence comes from both sides. Gavin Hopley, 19, was kicked to death by up to eight Asian men in Oldham in February 2002. Six men were convicted of violent disorder and theft offences but no one has been convicted of his murder.

An Asian gang was also responsible for the violent killing of 17-year-old Ross Parker, who was savagely stabbed with hunting knives during an attack in Peterborough in 2001. David Lees, 23, was run over and killed during a fight between whites and a gang of Asians in Prestwich, Manchester, only last month.

There has been numerous inquiries and new legislation since the Lawrence case and almost everyone concerned with race relations will confirm that policing in cases involving race has improved immeasurably since that tragic event.

However, the debate about the White victims of racist attacks seems to have progressed no further in the past 10 years — because of fears of "political correctness" and the threat of the far right making political capital out of personal tragedy.

Sir Ian Blair, Britain's most senior police officer, even attacked the press as "institutionally racist" in January this year because cases such as the killing of Tom ap Rhys Pryce, the solicitor, had gained more publicity than the equally terrible death on the same day of Balbir Matharu, who had tried to stop thieves ripping the radio from his car.

An extensive search of national and regional newspaper reports, however, shows that cases involving black and minority ethnic victims are widely reported, while there is an almost total boycott of stories involving the white victims of similar attacks. Is this because newspapers fear their reports appearing on BPP leaflets, or because the police are less likely to issue appeals for help?

Peter Fahy, chief constable of Cheshire police and spokesman on race issues for the Association of Chief Police Officers, said: "A lot of police officers and other professionals feel almost the best thing to do is to try and avoid [discussing such attacks] for fear of being criticised. This is not healthy."

The silence means it is impossible to know how many white people are victims of racist attacks in today's multicultural Britain and whether they are right to feel aggrieved that the attacks they suffer do not appear to get the same recognition as those of black victims.

The BPP says defend White people - the majority victims of racist attacks!

The memorial at the site where Kris was hideously murdered by Asians

An open letter to the Prime Minister

Dear Mr. Blair,

Although your term in office may be rated as an unmitigated disaster for our Nation, nevertheless we do not hold you solely to blame for all the miseries that our people now have to endure. The rot, as we may term it, set in many, many years ago. Is it not utterly incredible that, at the beginning of the 20th. century, Great Britain not only possessed a large and prosperous empire but was one of the foremost industrial nations in the world? While it is obvious that we will never be able to return to those halcyon days, there is no reason why a government demonstrating strength and purpose should not take immediate steps to signally improve the lot of our unhappy people.

'Auf wiedersehn' and 'au revoir' Brussels

The first, and clearly the least difficult, step we need to take is to detach ourselves from that absurd affair known as the European Union which, it is said, is costing us £4,000 a second and has, over the years, usurped our power to govern ourselves to the extent that the Mother of Parliaments has become little more than a rubber stamp. Britain is no longer in charge of its own destiny. Now it is true that this totally corrupt and nonsensical institution will fall apart of its own accord in due time, but why do we have to wait? We could, on the spot if we had the guts, get out with just a stroke of the pen, despite all the nonsense talked of problems in this connection. Even so, despite the fact that 87% of our folk want to claw back the powers now exercised by the spendthrift EU Commission, we know that neither you nor David Cameron will ever bite the bullet.

Reclaiming our birthright.....

In much the same way that none of us ever voted to join the diabolical European Union, your lot, and the other lot, never asked us if we wanted a multiracial society. And, whatever fine words we may hear about the wonders of mixing, the truth is that the importation of people from all over the world has cost us a fortune and brought us nothing but endless suffering and tribulation with which we could well do without. Surely, even you would agree that everyone has a God given right to enjoy his or her life in the society and company of their own folk. Moreover, when we are deprived of that right, then it is we who are the victims of race crime.

.....and how it must be done

Restoring our people's rights is, of course, a far tougher nut that saying a fond farewell to the European Commission. But the problem is not insuperable. Having torn up our treaty with the EU we could immediately put a stop to any immigration from anywhere, and that includes the Irish Republic. Following this we would introduce a scheme whereby non indigenous folk could be generously assisted in their return to the land of their origin. Primarily however, we should thank God that people of all races do prefer the company of their own sort, and we would positively encourage the welcome trend towards the establishment of separate ethnic communities, provided always that these were properly policed and administered. When a blundering idiot like Trevor Phillips tells you that he believes the opposite, then you must know that we are on the right track. As for the luvvies who would scream Apartheid, they should take a deep breath and look at today's South Africa! Even so, we doubt if New Labour has the will for this sort of approach and, as for Dave, for all his potty talk of change and modernisation, we must seriously question whether he would know where to start.

Defend Britain not Israel!

It has been estimated that George W. Bush and yourself are responsible for the death of 650,000 Iraqis. (Saddam Hussein beat that!) Our feeling, which is shared by a large majority of our folk, is that British soldiers, sailors and airmen should be used to defend British interests. How you people, having reduced us to near penury, can still pretend that we are a world power, is beyond belief. Of course we would like to discuss global problems with responsible Muslim leaders because, as probably you have belatedly realised, gun slinging is not the answer. Iraq borders on civil war, while over in Afghanistan the Taliban are playing a cat and mouse game that you will never win. Worse still, your spin doctors are always putting it around that we who oppose these lunatic expeditions are not standing behind our own men. How evil can you get?

Replace deception with integrity

We desperately need a government which is tough on sleaze and tough on the causes of sleaze, something totally beyond the capability of any political party at Westminster. It does not take a genius to fathom out that the cases of Mandy and Blunkett are just the tip of an enormous iceberg. Moreover, at the local level, we have encountered New Labour Councillors acting in a fashion close to that of Mafia bosses, while vote-rigging and electoral malpractice are rampant both in your own party and in the Lib-Dems. As for cash for honours, we find it difficult to comprehend why anyone would wish to pay good money to sit alongside 'Barons', Ashdown, Healey and Levy to name just a few. And, lower down the scale, who on earth would wish to be ranked with 'Sir' Paul McCartney and 'Sir' Elton John? Titles, thanks to you and your predecessors, are utterly meaningless, even if some daft overpaid characters still covet them.

Give us back our streets

It is, we are sure that you will agree, appalling that there are now many no-go areas in our British land where the rule of law has become the rule of the jungle; areas where our old folk walk in fear, where foreign gangsters indulge in daily shoot outs, and where lethal substances are freely traded with impunity. And, for all the big talk from your succession of Home Secretaries, it is getting worse every day. You may have given up, but we haven't. The mess can be cleared up, even if it means declaring martial law and sending in the army. We pledge to restore these communities, whatever it takes!

What you should do now

It is always satisfying to be remembered as having done at least one useful thing. In your own case we would recommend an early visit to the Palace when you would ask the Queen to dissolve Parliament and send you and the other 600 odd parasites home on indefinite unpaid leave. But do mention our 'phone number and web site before you go, as we will be able to provide Her with the name of a tough competent First Minister supported by a 30 strong National Leadership Committee dedicated to sorting things out.

DARWEN REMEMBRANCE SUNDAY EVENT

12th NOVEMBER 2006

A good turn out of British People's Party and England First Party members held a solemn wreath laying ceremony at Darwen, Lancs War Memorial on Sunday 12th November 2006. Pictures below tell the story.

In Flanders fields the poppies blow, between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky, the larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below. We are the Dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow, Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields. Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you from failing hands we throw The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields

Goaded, infiltrated and lied to - the BPP strikes back...

The British People's Party has tried it's very best to build bridges and not walls between the many Nationalist groups in Britain today. We do not proscribe. We allow dual membership. We don't, unless the circumstances are extreme name names of kindred White Nationalists. However, one group has taken gross advantage of our open policy towards all other patriotic organisations - they have poached important members who we allowed dual membership only to find the November 9th Society pressuring these members as a result of which two important BPP Regions - South Wales and the North-East of England were damaged. The damage has been limited and new people are taking their place. We have succumbed by being too open and honest to allowing our members to be subject to political 'blackmail' by N9S.

When the BPP was first formed we received a gift of some merchandise from them and were asked to only pay for any subsequent material we ordered, which we did. The unsolicited 'starter pack' - badges, T-shirts etc WHICH WE HAD NEVER ORDERED and which we received no invoice for was - and we have three winesses - a gift, end of story.

When the revelations of an attempt at wide scale membership poaching and the attempted destruction of the BPP Women's Division came to light we tried to stay reasonable but sent some emails and text messages out expressing our disapproval at a group we could tolerate but which we thought was a pressure group. We could ill afford to have trained organisers wasting their time handing out openly Nazi literature. As a result of these fairly mild comments, Kevin Quinn, erstwhile fuhrer (with a small f) of the British Nazi Party (as they sometimes style themselves) lost the plot. Apparently he is an individual that can brook no personal criticism - even though we are expected to and do so - and sent a bill 14 months later for the supposed merchandise - another attempt to further damage the BPP financially. He then 'proscribed' the BPP and its leadership. (something akin to a lunatic ant proscribing a growing tiger) - and even bought a dummy domain name and set up an anti-BPP site with which one of his minions is used to do the dirty work -a certain young man from Wales. The fake BPP site is crass and crude in the extreme and the only way it was pushed was by the perpetrator to advertise it on Indymedia - a Marxist site!(All other decent White Nationalist forums and sites refusing to touch it). We find this weekend afer various complaints from new BPP members that they are still being bombarded with N9S 'literature' unasked and again unsolicited.

The November 9th Society a.k.a British Nazi Party is an embarrasment to the White Nationalist scene. Poncing about in swastikas and the regalia of the Third Reich is both infantile and insulting to the Creed. It plays into the hands of Searchlight and the Zionist gutter press and drags the name of White Nationalism through the mire. What ordinary decent Briton is interested in dressing up in the regalia of a admittedly infectious image when their country faces stark ruination and racial destruction. The BPP has the Celtic Cross as its symbol. It does not rely on poaching other organisations members but calls to the White people of Britain and - despite all, will NOT proscribe the N9S!

We have received much information regarding this outfit and its sources and history and will if pushed reveal more. For now any decent White Nationalist considering being ensnared by this Micky Mouse outfit (with mayhaps more sinister connections) please think again! Do NOT waste your time. money and effort on a group whose 'formative' years span an incredible three decades!

Below we reproduce a specially commissioned cartoon as we feel showing this bunch up for the political jesters their leadership is, is the best way of enlightening people....

BOY "TOO WHITE" TO GET A PASSPORT!

With his glowing white skin, clear blue eyes and soft blonde hair, Noreen and Bruce Coles have always said their six-year-old son, Richard has the face of an angel.

But when a photograph of the fair skinned youngster was sent off for a new passport, officials found fault with his features, saying he was 'too pale' to have a passport.

Though the submitted picture taken by a professional photographer met all the guidelines, his parents were appalled to learn that his complexion was too light to be processed.

Mrs Coles, 44, said: "They said my son was too pale to get a passport. They claimed that he was too bright on his forehead, nose and cheeks- they said he was too pale to be put through the scanner.

"I was furious. He's always been very pale. But short of putting make-up on him what could I do?"

When the former office manager complained to passport officials last month, she was told that the only solution would be to re-take the photograph on an off-white background 'to reflect some darkness into his face'.

Undeterred, Mrs Coles insisted that a manager inspect the photograph, who agreed that there was nothing wrong with the image.

The manager agreed to process it manually to create an old-fashioned digital passport for the schoolboy, but she warned Mrs Coles that when biometric passports come in next month, staff will no longer be able to manually process a photograph rejected by the scanner.

The mother-of-three from Wadhurst, East Sussex was also told that there was a risk that the digital passport would not be accepted at border controls abroad due to his paleness.

She said: "There was nothing wrong with that photograph - he even had a tan from being on holiday in Wales for a week.

"They processed my daughter's photograph at the same time which was taken by the same photographer and the same exposure.

"What makes me angry is that they have discriminated against my son because he has milky White skin and when this biometric system comes in next month my son would not have been able to get a passport at all.

"How many other children are going to have the same problem?"

From October all passports issued will be biometric, with a chip containing the holder's precise facial measurements, which will include a fingerprint by 2009.

The passport changes gradually phased in since last September are aimed at fighting terrorism, but the new system has been dogged by complaints from parents whose children have been rejected under the new strict rules.

Bruce Coles: Too White for a passport!

Recently a spokesman for the UK Passport Authority said that rejection rates had fallen from 14 per cent last September to five per cent, but there were still problems processing some photographs.

He said: "We cannot comment on individual cases. But the problem is not the scanning, the point is that the image has to be readable by other border controls.

"With regards to small children, we fully appreciate how difficult it can be to get a suitable photo. But the photo must still must show a clear image that is a true likeness of the child, so that it will be acceptable to border controls overseas."

Other parents to have fallen foul of the new rules include Gwyn and Mandy Thomas, who were told in January this year, that their newborn baby Bethan could not have a passport as her smiling photograph did not have her left ear showing.

Last month, officials also rejected the application of five-year-old Hannah Edwards because the bare shoulders showing in her photograph could offend Muslims.

A TALE OF TWO CASES

Case 1:

Muslim Asian thug attacks 54 year old Edinburgh resident. The thug landed a kung-fu kick on a 54-year old cancer sufferer's face. Carol Marr received the blow as she tried protesting to kickboxer Talha Tariq and his brothers after he hit her with a snowball.

She was also called a "white bitch" by the 19-year-old student during the racially motivated fracas in Edinburgh. Tariq claimed self defence.

Edinburgh Sheriff Roderick McLeod yesterday (5th) told him: "I cannot condone such a nasty attack on a middle aged woman, not in good health."

He ordered Tariq to pay £600 in fines and compensation.

Case 2:

BNP member and Worcester Organiser Kevin Hughes accused of racially motivated assault on a bogus Iraqi asylum seeker. No evidence, no injuries, no doctor's reports, no eye-witnesses, no previous record.

Verdict – guilty. Punishment - 18 months imprisonment (reduced to 12 on appeal) for the racially motivated element and 12 months for the alleged assault.

Kevin's case was followed by the outrageous verdict of guilty last month handed to Swansea BNP member for a "crime" with no victim and with uncorroborated "evidence" from a single witness who bizarrely received a Police "award" for her actions before the case even came to court. Robert McGlynn was fined £200 and a further £200 in costs.

Justice in Britain? Perhaps but its one law for native Britons, one law for Labour's replacements for native Britons.

How much longer will the children of Hereward, Nelson, Tommy Atkins and King Alfred tolerate this insane situation? It is time for the lionhearts of Britain to start roaring again?
